

The Rooster

The Sign of Vigor

Candid Enthusiastic Entertaining Resilient

No one struts their stuff quite like the Rooster! These charming characters demand our attention easily through their bubbly personality, poise and charm. Roosters know how to make an entrance, and when they are in top form, they can stop a room upon their arrival. They also know how to work the room. The dignified and efficient Rooster is a proven performer and proud of it!

This sign carries with it a certain dignified swagger only the Rooster is able to master. They have a particular taste in how they dress and live, which they are happy to rely on to show their character. Roosters do not need excessive and flashy accessories. The most expensive item they own could well be their mirror. They may even be captivated by their own debonair figure!

The Rooster is a powerhouse worker, extremely diligent, and capable of achieving great heights. They love a worthy challenge and usually handle them with aplomb. Because the Rooster likes to call the shots, they are not usually fond of authority figures. They work best when in charge and delegate duties well. One thing is for sure, we will always know where we stand with a Rooster!

This sign is a natural at rebounding into life. Duty calls every morning after all, and they are not afraid of hard work. They just have to be careful when the pendulum swings too far, and they find themselves stressed. That is the time for them to be a little more impulsive and disappear. Rest and relaxation is the best cure for any ailing Rooster who has pushed themselves too hard!

Even though they enjoy their own space for deep thought and lots of pondering, Roosters are also prone to being unhappy when no one seems to need them. They just like to rule the roost and ensure all is safe for those they care for. When faced with an injustice, Roosters will attack with courage and conviction. They are self reliant, natural protectors and steadfast in defense!

Rooster's are great listeners and make for a loyal friends who support honesty and loathe deceit. If they can learn to exercise the art of diplomacy, their drive and endeavor will serve them well!

Roosters shine brightest with Good Karma when they are confident, realistic, curious and vigilant!
